ADVITIUM CONNECT

Advitium Connect helps you to better manage collaborative processes. You can use Advitium Connect's easy-to-use, built-in process automation design capabilities to configure it for your specific business needs.

WHAT IT DOES

Advitium Connect enables you to create packages of information, which contain forms, text documents, drawings, image files, URL links, and data from other information systems. Then, it automatically routes the right information to the right people for the right action at the right time. Users review these packages with their usual Internet browser. The software automatically tracks each package, making sure that each activity in the process is completed before going on to the next step.

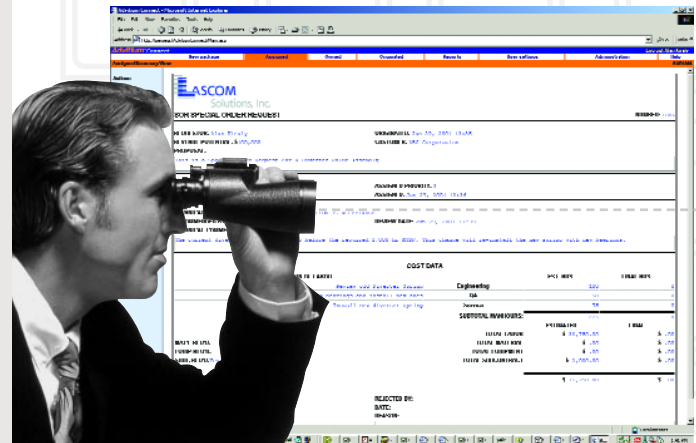

Advitium Connect is fully scalable, and can be used to manage anything from a single business process, such as field change orders, to any of your company's time-critical processes that require historical archives, audit trails, and traceability.

Advitium Connect, which helps manage the information workflow related to your product, is part of a complete solution that includes Advitium Access.

HOW YOUR COMPANY BENEFITS

With Advitium Connect, your company can dramatically improve the efficiency of its business processes.

Not only is this ISO 9000-compliant, but it's also simply smarter. By speeding and strengthening collaborative processes, such as product change orders, supply chain management, product development, and technical sales, you gain a powerful – and proprietary – competitive edge.

With Advitium Connect, electronic forms can mirror existing hard-copy forms, minimizing system training requirements.

ADVITIUM CONNECT IMPROVES YOUR PROCESSES

Process automation for the real world: that's Advitium Connect. It goes far beyond applying network solutions to your existing processes. It turns your everyday business processes into living, evolving systems. That ongoing improvement is something which can't be done with static hard-copy forms and paper-passing.

- Routes packages according to people's assigned roles
- Allows automatic rendezvous, enabling activities to be completed in parallel before proceeding through the process
- Enhances team dynamics
- Tracks packages with complete audit trails as they move from activity to activity
- Spawns other automated processes based on activities
- Lets you check package progress and anticipate completion
- Creates, tracks, and helps enforce schedules
- Adapts quickly and easily to match evolving industry trends
- Increases efficiency

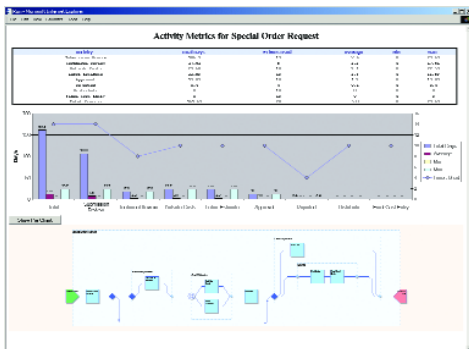

Your virtual package, containing all the required data from your information systems, travels through existing processes based on business rules you have developed. Along its process life cycle, you can monitor the status of the package and anticipate its completion.

ADVITIUM CONNECT IMPROVES YOUR ORGANIZATION

Order out of chaos: that's Advitium Connect. It pulls together – and keeps together – all information and authorization associated with a given task, whether the task is a straightforward product sale or the development of a whole new product.

- Creates virtual packages with all required information, including intelligent routing slip, information containment list, owner/participant data, and recorded activities
- Controls process via intelligent routing slip
- Manages data, making sure that all information is properly distributed
- Shows changes and updates immediately
- Imports, references and exports data to and from most popular database programs and file systems
- Supports activity and user-based security
- Archives packages and maintains histories for complete traceability

ADVITIUM CONNECT IMPROVES YOUR VISIBILITY

Business today is more spread out and complex than ever. In this environment, you need accurate and timely status on activities. With Advitium Connect, you get complete visibility into your business procedures and activities without leaving your chair. You can easily generate reports on current activities as well as metrics on completed and archived projects.

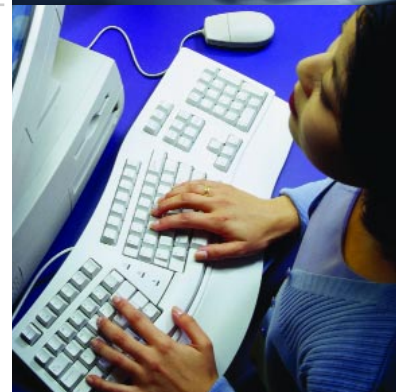

- Generates management dashboard reports within a web browser
- Pinpoints details on a single business process activity or reviews metrics across the entire process
- Automatically archives reports for historic trending analysis
- Traces and monitors packages anywhere in the business process
- Supports virtual collaboration
- Works with standard firewall architectures
