Rolling out a wireless field force solution is exactly that: a rollout. You need a continuous, seamlessly integrated path, custom-fit to your existing systems, processes, and needs.

That's why Orsus Solutions is a smart choice.

Our wireless solutions are comprehensive and flexible. They're based on robust, open-architecture building blocks that are designed to be customized. And, they're built on a proven, XML-based mobile platform that plugs right into the IT infrastructure you already have. So, everything from device management to security to back office integration is fully supported.

However your organization works, that's how your Orsus solution works. Automatically. In real-time. From end to end.

For more information about how Orsus Solutions can help bridge the gaps in your field force mobilization, call (800) 437-1722.
